

this is my philly

Looking for enrichment opportunities?
Join AIGA Philadelphia and Spells Writing Lab in helping kids celebrate "their" Philly!

when: Saturday, March 5, 2016 | 1:00–4:00 pm

where: Moore College of Art & Design | Room 206
20th Street and the Parkway, Philadelphia | PA 19103

who: Taught by AIGA Philadelphia Graphic Design Students and Spells Writing Lab

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

AIGA Philadelphia is partnering with Spells Writing Lab to celebrate the unique neighborhoods of Philadelphia. Spells Writing Lab is a local organization that provides free writing workshops and after-school tutoring for a diverse mix of kids and teens from the surrounding community. We believe there's something special about all the communities that make up our city. No matter what the size or location, we all feel a sense of pride and love for our neighborhood.

Under the guidance of graphic design college students from around the city, kids ages 8-13 will create a poem and supporting collage expressing their love for their home.

Emphasis will be placed on successfully expressing ideas through the integration of image and the written word. Graphic design students will facilitate discussion, as well as assist in the creation of the artwork. Spells Writing Lab

Eligibility:

- AIGA Philadelphia Student Member
- Junior/Senior enrolled in a Graphic Design program

Responsibilities:

- Aid children in creation of a collage.
- Using on-site computers and scanners, work with each other to scan final artwork on the day of the workshop.

*space is limited! to reserve your spot now email education@philadelphia.aiga.org